DESCRIBE THE PRESENT AND ORIGINAL (if known) PHYSICAL APPEARANCE

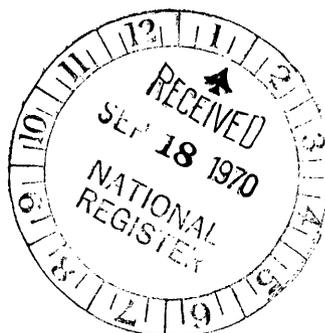

Two story handmade brick building of English bond with Flemish bond framing the windows. Venetian window behind judge's seat, chimney placement, doors, and windows within recessed arches are in the English Palladian manner. The entablature with cornice modillions, the portico pediment and the stucco-over-brick modified Tuscan columns are of the Roman Revival tradition. The front entrance with semicircular fanlight and crowning triangular pediment is especially handsome. Other features include the double flight of steps with arched opening below, the iron handrails and banisters and the semielliptical fanlight in pediment.

First floor walls are solid brick 24 inches thick, the second 18 inches. A series of double-barrel brick vaults supports the second floor and forms the ceiling of the first. The floors were brick but covered with wood in 1892. A ground floor room still retains an original fireplace.

Upstairs courtroom exhibits wainscotting and fine reeded woodwork.

The courthouse square contains an historical marker and Confederate and World War II memorials.

STATEMENT OF SIGNIFICANCE

Of probable Robert Mills design and displaying superb craftsmanship, the building has been in constant use as a courthouse since its 1828 completion. The contractor was Willis W. Alsobrook.

An addition made in 1853 was minus vaulted ceilings, the contractor probably not possessing the skill to undertake them.

In 1964 Lancaster County spent $30,000 repairing and preserving the courthouse.
